2. QCA Code

The Board intends, so far as possible given the Company’s size and the construction of the Board, to comply with the QCA Code. The QCA Code sets out a standard of minimum best practice for small and mid-sized quoted companies.

The following summary sets out how the Company intends to apply the key governance principles defined in the QCA Code.

3. Principles of governance

Principle 1. Establish a strategy and business model which promote long-term value for shareholders

The Board is committed to providing long-term value for all shareholders and stakeholders. The Board will strive to ensure that the company’s strategy and business model is given due consideration when conducting any matter of business. Moreover, the Board will continually monitor the existing strategy and make appropriate changes that it deems to be in the best interests of shareholders and stakeholders.

Principle 2. Seek to understand and meet shareholder needs and expectation

The Board recognises the importance of providing all shareholders with clear and regular information relating to the Company’s activities. Communications are almost entirely through Regulatory Information Service (“RIS”) announcements.

Amongst other things, RIS announcements will consist of:

- Up to date technical information and results;

- All annual and half-yearly financial statements; and
- Results of all resolutions voted on at the latest Annual General Meeting.

The Board encourages all shareholders to attend the Annual General Meetings and understands its importance in allowing shareholders to have open and direct dialogue with the management of the Company. Shareholders will be given opportunities to ask questions during the Annual General Meeting.

The Board believes that the above methods of communication are sufficient in order to ensure shareholders needs and expectations are met.

Principle 3. Take into account wider stakeholder and social responsibilities and their implications for long-term success

The Board is committed to maintaining open and honest relations with all of its stakeholders, both internal and external.

The Company endeavors to take account of feedback received from all stakeholders, making amendments to working arrangements and operational plans where this is deemed appropriate and where such amendments are consistent with the Company's longer-term strategy. In addition, the Non-Executive Directors have direct oversight of the implementation of the Company's business strategy and is able to gain feedback on its operations.

Principle 4. Embed effective risk management, considering both opportunities and threats, throughout the organization

The Board is responsible for ensuring that the risks faced by the Company are appropriately managed in order to allow for the execution and delivery of the Company's strategy.

The Board intends for the Company's general risk to be a moderate, balanced one that allows it to maintain appropriate growth and scalability, whilst ensuring regulatory compliance. It is intended that no one investee company will make up more than 75% of the Company's net assets.

Budgets and forecasts and new risks associated with the Company's ongoing operations are monitored. The Company in particular monitors the liquidity of its investee companies and the ability to trade out of these profitably. The Board particularly notes fair value accounting of public company investee shares at bid, that feeds through the profit and loss account at bid, whether realised into cash or not at year end.

Principle 5. Maintain the board as a well-functioning, balanced team led by the chair

The Board currently comprises of two Non-Executive Directors and whose independence should be monitored due to the long-standing appointment with the Company. The Board also contains one recently appointed executive director.

The QCA Code suggests that the board should comprise of a balance of executive and non-executive directors, with at least two non-executive directors being independent. The QCA Code suggests that independence is a board judgement, but where there are grounds to question the independence of a director, through length of service or otherwise, this must be explained.

The Non-Executive Directors are not significant shareholders in the Company, with both individuals currently holding less than 0.5% each of the total issued share capital of the company.

On an annual, the Non-Executive Directors conducts a Board review, assessing the performance of the Executive Director based on specific performance and evaluation criteria. It is noted that a third party provider liaises with the auditor for the annual accounts and audit, and unaudited but reviewed interim accounts.

Principle 6. Ensure that between them the directors have the necessary up-to-date experience, skills and capabilities

The Board believes it has the ability to carry out the Company's strategy in-line with shareholders expectations.

Principle 7. Evaluate board performance based on clear and relevant objectives, seeking continuous improvement

The effectiveness of the Board, and the individual Directors are evaluated on an annual basis. This performance evaluation will include an assessment of each Director's continued independence (or otherwise).

Principle 8. Promote a corporate culture that is based on ethical values and behaviours

The Board conducts itself with integrity at all times, and monitors the culture of the Company, in relation to the size of the Company.

Principle 9. Maintain governance structures and processes that are fit for purpose and support good decision-making by the board

The Non-Executive Directors are responsible for overseeing and running the business of the Board, ensuring strategic focus and direction is maintained.

The Non-Executive Directors have overall responsibility for reviewing the Company's strategy.

The Board will continually review the need for further Board appointments as the Company grows or the strategy shifts.

The Company is committed to the evolution of its corporate governance in line with best practice, to the extent the members of the Board judge it appropriate considering the Company's size, stage of development and resources. However, at present the Board is satisfied with the Company's corporate governance arrangements, and as such there are no specific plans for changes to the Company's corporate governance arrangements in the short-term.

Principle 10. Communicate how the company is governed and is performing by maintaining a dialogue with shareholders and other relevant stakeholders

The Board will strive to ensure that all shareholders are kept up to date on the Company's operations, with clear and transparent information being provided on a regular basis.
